Matrix/Element are superior to any other platform. They are distributed so they cannot be shut down. They also do NOT require a cell phone number, or even an email address!

Quick FAQ:

- What is Element?
 - It's the app you use to chat. It connects to the Matrix servers. It is open source.
- What is Matrix?
 - Matrix is the protocol/language used to send and receive chat messages. It is P2P and encrypted. There is no central point of control like there is with Discord, Guilded, etc. That means it isn't as easy to shut down. It is open source.
- Are there other apps besides Element?
 - Yes, and you can use them to connect to the same Matrix chat servers, although Element is the most popular.
- Where can I learn more about Matrix?
 - Matrix FAQ
 - Matrix Architecture (scroll down)
- Who else uses it?
 - The Mozilla foundation migrated from IRC to Matrix (link).
- The layout is awful...
 - Try the IRC layout. Click on your name in the upper left corner, go to "all settings", then "appearance", then "advanced" then click , then "enable experimental compact irc mode"

From my understanding you can fork code & start your own server.

Good.

Maybe it'll make you angry enough to actually do something before they send you & your family to that commie re-education gulag.

Well honestly I'm the one being a dick so I apologize

Takes a big person to actually admit when they are wrong. Appreciated.

The plan is to hijack every platform and make it free speech land again.

Consider joining the server. Maybe this will work better for you:

I'm pissed off because you made this all way too complicated.

Don't be pissed at us, be pissed at big tech for shitting on everything to where we have to resort to this.

Now I made a brand new account and got into the group and it shows that there is nobody there except me. The "people" section is completely blank, I see nowhere to find rooms etc.

This is fucked. I made an account and then signed out to type in the name of the private server, and it's telling me that my SAVED PASSWORD that I just created two seconds ago is incorrect.

Are you trying to log in to main server vs our private server ?

You can get phone app, computer app & use in browser btw.

Either this is 100% not meant to be accessed on a mobile device, particularly a cellphone, or I am doing something majorly wrong. I was able to get in and join a room but it splits to half my phone screen and the chat room comments are only two words across and then continue to the next line. Also don't know how you send a comment in there. I'm going to guess it is best intended for desktops... but like I said I could be missing something lol cause what I experienced sucked
